BULLETIN.

Chicago, June 30.—Special—Chicago's list of dead and prostrated from the heat is growing. Thirteen more deaths have been reported since last evening.

The extreme heat of Sunday and today exacted human toll in Lee county when last evening an Austrian, employed by the C. & N. W. died at Franklin Grove as the result of being prostrated while unloading ties between that place and Nachusa during the afternoon.

A fellow workman, also an Austrian, was overcome at the same time and in a critical condition at Franklin Grove, where he is being attended by Dr. Grimm, the company physician at that place.

Two Others Prostrated

Two prostrations were reported in Dixon, and reports from the vicinity indicate a general suffering from the heat.

The weather man promises no relief until tomorrow night when possible showers and lower temperature are scheduled.

Overcome After Work.

The Austrian whose life was taken by the heat, had been employed by the railway company for some time and yesterday afternoon worked as usual. When the work was finished and while returning to Franklin the man was taken ill and although the physician was summoned upon arrival at Franklin, he passed away at the depot.

The fellow was a good worker and at no time did he show unusual suffering from heat, but his illness followed quickly after work and he died at the station at 7 p. m. and was buried at Franklin Grove.

Companion in Danger.

Another Austrian, a companion of the dead man, was taken ill while returning from work but rallied under the physician's treatment and his condition, this afternoon is improved, though still serious.

Engineer Overcome

A. H. Thompson, a locomotive engineer employed at the cement plant, was overcome by the heat while at work Sunday afternoon and his removal to his home in town was necessary. Fortunately his prostration was not entire and he is reported out of danger.

HYPNOTIST GIVES POWER OF SPEECH

FREEPORT GIRL'S VOICE RESTORED BY AMATEUR OPERATOR THIS WEEK.

Freeport: After being unable to raise her voice above a whisper for the past eight months, Miss Gladys Calkins, daughter of Engineer and Mrs. Frank Calkins, suddenly regained her voice yesterday morning after being treated by W. S. Mogle, an amateur hypnotist.

Eight months ago Miss Calkins had a severe cold. On recovering from which she was unable to speak. Specialists were consulted but no improvement was made and finally, as a last resort, the hypnotist was secured.

On Wednesday evening Miss Calkins was in her usual condition, unable to speak. Mr. Mogle called at the home and placed her under an hypnotic spell and while in this condition he stated that when she awoke she would be able to speak audibly. He also made her speak while hypnotized.

Upon arising Thursday Miss Calkins was afraid to even attempt to talk, fearing that the treatment had not met with the desired result. After going to the living rooms below, she bade her mother good morning and greatly to her surprise and to the greatest joy she had ever experienced, she again had the pleasure of hearing her own voice.

Because of the extreme heat Contractor Rose has made a welcome change in the working hours of his men who are rebuilding St. Mary's parochial school. The change will allow the men to rest during the hottest hours of the day.

CHANGE ROUTE OF MOTORCYCLE RACE

RIDERS WILL MAKE A SIX-MILE TRIP OUT CHICAGO ROAD AND BACK.

START AND FINISH HERE

Fine Place for Start and Finish and Some Exciting Bursts of Speed Will Be Seen.

A slight change has been made in the route that will be taken by the motorcycle riders in their race in Dixon on July 4th, starting at 9 a. m. sharp.

The racers will start at the corner of Galena avenue and Third street, near the Nachusa house, and will run south to Seventh street and then out on the Chicago road for three miles, turning around and coming back on the same road, finishing at the starting point. They will make a six-mile run.

A run about twice as long had been planned, but the committee found that, owing to the many events of importance that will be crowded into the short day, they could not devote so much time to the motor race.

The prizes will consist of: First, $7 and 50 per cent of the entrance fees; second, $5 and 30 per cent of the entrance fees; third, $3 and 20 per cent of the entrance fees. The entry fee is $1 for each motorcycle, and entries should be made with Geo. B. Shaw at the Telegraph office. Entries should be made at once.

The Galena avenue hill from Third to Fifth streets is a long, smooth incline that will give the riders a great start and will allow them to finish at top speed and still have perfect control of their machines. The facilities for handling the crowd are the best at this place also and the event will undoubtedly be one of the big attractions of the day.

MAKE ARRANGEMENTS TO PARTICIPATE IN AUTO PARADE

THIS WILL BE ONE OF THE BIG FEATURES OF THE FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION IN DIXON.

OWNERS URGED TO PARADE

Committee Will Announce Course of Parade Tomorrow—Leading Car Will Run Fifteen Miles An Hour.

One of the big features of the Fourth of July celebration in Dixon will be the auto parade in the evening. The committee is now making arrangements to make this event one of the most interesting and attractive of the day's program. Superintendent Weurth of the Sandusky Cement plant has consented to give his two large auto trucks and the Utility company their large electric truck. These trucks will be used to convey the three bands in the parade. The bands in question are the Morrison, West Brooklyn and Dixon Marine.

The machine leading the parade will run fifteen miles an hour and there will be no "walking" in the parade.

Course Announced Tomorrow.

The committee will announce the course of the auto parade tomorrow.

It is expected that every auto owner in the city will have his machine in the parade. There is no reason why he should not do this. What is more beautiful than a successful auto parade? People will come miles to witness such a parade. This has been demonstrated all over the country. Autos handsomely decorated always make a splendid showing. But, if the owners of cars do not take enough interest in the event to participate in the parade, what can a committee do to make such an event successful?

A Fitting Close.

An auto parade several miles long is certainly a fitting close for a celebration such as Dixon expects to pull off next Friday.

Now is the time to begin arranging to participate in the auto parade.

The auto owner's idea of decorating his own car will prevail. Some little time should be given to this feature of the parade.

Remember, the success of the auto parade depends entirely upon the auto owners of the city. They can make the parade an event that will be talked about for years to come if they so desire.

The building will be open for ladies and gentlemen alike, while the swimming pool will be thrown open for the use of any young men who make desire to take a plunge during the hot hours of the celebration.

COMPANY G. TEAM FOURTH IN STATE

FIRST CAVALRY TOOK HIGH HONORS AT CAMP LOGAN SUNDAY.

Company G's rifle team, champions of the Sixth regiment, finished fourth in the competitive shoot between the championship teams of every regiment of the Illinois National Guard, which was held yesterday at Camp Logan, the high honors of the state going to the team from the First Illinois Cavalry. The Dixon boys shot well, but not up to their average, their score being about 50 points less than usual.

However, Dixon was in the running at all times during the shoot, and in the individual match, when 69 marksmen took part, Corporal Salsbury of this city finished fourth and Lieut. Reid was seventh. Both of these men are members of the Field and Staff team of the Sixth regiment.

PET BULL DOG BITES BOYER LAD

TEARS LIP SO BADLY THAT IT WAS NECESSARY TO TAKE HIM TO HOSPITAL.

The seven year old son of William Boyer of St. Louis who is visiting his mother, Mrs. Rebecca Boyer of College avenue, was bitten on the mouth by a bulldog last evening. The teeth of the animal tore the under part of the lip in such a manner that it was necessary to take the child to the hospital for treatment.

The dog belongs to Elmer Jones and had never been known to hurt anyone. The dog and boy played together all afternoon Sunday. When the boy started to leave his grandmother's home with his father the dog jumped up and bit the boy on the mouth.

STARS WON SHORT BUT HEATED GAME

ROCKFORD PEPPERS BEATEN 10 TO 8 IN SEVEN INNING AFFAIR.

STERLING NEXT FOR TWO GAMES

West Ends Will Meet the Stars On Friday Morning and Afternoon.

The Dixon Stars took a short game from the Rockford Peppers yesterday afternoon at Athletic park, the score, 10 to 8, being the result of seven innings of work in heat which was quite some, because of the torrid conditions which prevailed, and also because the Peppers wanted to get the northbound evening passenger, it was agreed that the game go only seven innings.

Rockford scored first when "Fuzzy" Pierce, formerly a Dixon Brown, smashed out a homer in the second inning when there were two on the runway ahead of him, but the Stars got even later and pounded out five runs in the fourth.

Huber made a two base hit with two on and Art Whitebread lost his breath making a home run.

The score:
Rockford ... 0 3 0 0 4 0 1—8
Dixon ... 0 2 0 5 0 3 x—10
Batteries—Murphy, Peterson and Flannery; Huber and Keenan. Umpires—Hogan and Sullivan.

Ready for Sterling.

As a result of yesterday's heated practice, however, the Stars are in good shape for Sterling West Ends, who come for two games on the 4th, meetings being scheduled for both morning and afternoon. In all probability Charlie Keenan will pitch the morning game, with Huber working in the afternoon. There will be a band at the park at both games to help entertain the crowd and encourage the ball players to their greatest efforts, and these two games should be of interest as each team has won one from the other and each will make an effort to take both of the holiday bills.

HUNDREDS PATRONIZE THE ASSEMBLY BEACH

SATURDAY WAS A RECORD DAY—BEACH WILL BE OPEN THE FOURTH.

Hundreds enjoyed the bathing from morning until night. If this warm spell continues Instructor Eisner will be kept busy.

The Assembly beach will be open all day on the Fourth.

NOTED SCHUMAN QUINTET AN ASSEMBLY ATTRACTION

The above noted musical organization will give two programs at Rock River Assembly, afternoon and evening of August 8th.

The quintet is composed of Chicago's better known artist-musicians, who are known in connection with the great Thomas orchestra or who hold prominent positions as instructors in the best musical conservatories of Chicago. The Schumann quintet is convincing the people that they really enjoy the very best in music when properly presented. They have a genuinely new idea, that of symphonic concerts, with a company of only five musicians.

The public will note that music is a prominent feature of the Assembly program this year.

"So far as I know, no representative of the National Manufacturers' association ever aided in any of my campaigns."—Representative Gardner of New Jersey.

"Mulhall's statement is absolutely ridiculous."—Gen. James A. Gary.

"For years Mulhall pursued me with his methods of blackmail and threatened to kill me politically."—Former Congressman George A. Pearce of Maryland.

"Mulhall's statement, so far as it refers to me, confirms a charge I made on the stump in 1910."—Speaker Champ Clark.

"As nearly as I remember, the published statements of Colonel Mulhall regarding this matter (check transaction) are substantially correct."—Harold McCormick.

"If I am the man Colonel Mulhall refers to, his charges are absolutely false."—Former Congressman William W. Wilson of Third Illinois district.

"I will not discuss the matter in any way."—Edward Hines of Chicago.

"I am as innocent as a babe; Mulhall's statement that he told Mr. McCormick about valuable assistance I had given to the Manufacturers' association is a lie."—Representative James T. McDermott of Chicago.

strike of the job printers in 1905; that of 23,000 shoemakers in St. Louis in 1907; 10,000 hatmakers in Connecticut and New Jersey in 1909 and 4,000 shoemakers at Portsmouth, O., in 1907.

More than $200,000 was spent by Mulhall alone in his lobby activities, according to his statement. This included only work which was done in connection with the influencing of legislators, it seems. What the sum total was when the expense accounts of the many attached to the lobby were footed up, Mulhall makes no attempt to estimate.

McDermott Admits Check.

Representative McDermott of Chicago, who is made to figure in the alleged scandal in a more unsavory way than almost any other person in public life named, issued a statement admitting he had received money on a check made payable to Mulhall by Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, signing Mulhall's name to the check by special authority of Mulhall.

Brings In Edward Hines.

Mr. Mulhall's statement described trips he said he made into half a dozen states with money and with orders from the association to do everything in his power to elect or defeat certain candidates for office. He named Edward Hines, whose name also came into the limelight in the senatorial investigation of the election of William Lorimer as United States senator, as an active agent in electing Jenkins of Wisconsin. Senator Stephenson of Marinette, Wis., was called Hines' aid in the fight.

Makes Second Statement.

In a further statement Colonel Mulhall cites, as an instance of the secrecy with which the alleged lobby worked, several letters bearing the typewritten signature "No Sig." written without address and on plain paper. These, the colonel asserts, came from Marshall Cushing, former secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers. Much of the credit for information regarding the secret workings of the house is given to former Representative Watson, but Mulhall adds that work which Watson declined to do was performed by Representative McDermott of Illinois.

A dozen men, he asserts, constituted the active lobby force, not including Van Cleave, who is alleged to have directed affairs through Schwedeman, his secretary.

CONFIRMED PROOF

RESIDENTS OF DIXON CANNOT DOUBT WHAT HAS BEEN

TWICE PROVED.

In gratitude for relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have truly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Dixon who so testified years ago, now say the results were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Dixon kidney sufferers.

J. B. Clark, 722 Highland Ave., Dixon, Ill., says: "I had kidney complaint and backache and the doctors seemed unable to do anything for me. Finally I read of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store. This remedy cured me and I have not had any serious trouble since. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills worthy of the highest praise and I am willing to confirm the statement I gave in their favor some years ago."

DROWNINGS OF A DAY IN U. S.

Chicago, Ill., June 29.—2 Menominee, Wis. 1 Terre Haute, Ind. 2 Flint Lake, Ind. 2 Springfield, Ill. 1 Cedar Lake, Ind. 2 Eureka, Ill. 1 La Crosse, Wis. 2 Blington, Ill. 1 Marquette, Wis. 2 St. Louis, Mo. 1 Philadelphia, Pa. 2 Peoria, Ill. 2 St. Paul, Minn. 2 Milwaukee, Wis. 1

Chicago, June 30.—Many more victims were added to the list of persons drowned in Chicago and other cities of the United States.

The saddest accident occurred at Cedar Lake, Ind., where Charles H. Ellis and Dr. P. D. Savill, both of Harvey, were drowned within 100 feet of a crowd of nearly 200 Sunday pleasure seekers. While Ellis' wife and two children and Doctor Savill's sweetheart stood on the beach in front of the Sigler house and besought some one to go to their assistance the men finally sank from eight after a terrible struggle.

Manchester, N. H., June 28.—Four persons were drowned in the Merrimack river when a canoe upset. Two others in the craft were saved. The drowned are: John O'Hearn, aged twenty; Arthur Leacock, aged eighteen; John McKeon, aged twenty; and Henry McKeon, Jr., aged four. Robert Dorris, aged eighteen, and Henry McKeon, Sr., aged forty, were saved.

Peshigo, Wis., June 30.—While bathing in the Peshigo river, near Loomis, Wis., Evelyn George, aged seventeen, and Anna Selapsky, aged nineteen, both daughters of farmers, were drowned. Mrs. Cleo Baucock, a widow, saved her own daughter, Dallas Baucock, aged nine, and Alice George, aged nine, swimming to shore with both at the same time, but nearly drowning herself in the effort.

Bloomington, Ill., June 30.—While heroically trying to save a companion who came near drowning in Mackinaw river, west of here, Stuart Jackson, aged seventeen, son of Prof. J. W. Jackson of Eureka (Ill.) college, was drowned. His companion was rescued.

Springfield, Ill., June 30.—By the sudden sinking of a boat in which he was attempting to cross the Sangamon river near Sherman, Bert Hedrick lost his life by drowning. Terre Haute, Ind., June 30.—While their mute father and mother watched from the bank, Harry and Clyde Bowers, twelve and nine years old, drowned in the Wabash river here.

DEMENTTOWN ... DOINGS

Miss Euphemia Perkins is writin' a militant suffragette drama entitled "In Agin', Out Agin', Gone Agin' Emmeline."

Amariah Tilson, proprietor of the Bon Ton Senatorial parlors, announces that he has secured a new razor in place of the new one his wife used to open a can of tomatoes, and is now ready to resume business at the old stand. Owing to the present high price of mutton, the person who stole the goat out'n the Knights of Equity hall the other night is respectfully requested to return the same, as there are candidates to be initiated in the near future, and the lodge can't afford to buy a new one.

Miss Euphemia Perkins, our poetess of passion, has given up writin' poetry for Doc Hanks' medicine advertisements, as Doc made her take her pay in medicine, which is also good for furniture polish. Miss Perkins sold some of it around town for that purpose, but decided it wasn't no way to get rich quick, and returned to her old position as second cook at the Huttel Hicksville.

Ansel Higgins bought some liniment to remove a wart from his thumb, and it was a great success, removing not only the wart, but most of the thumb.

Seems as though when a feller ain't got anything else in particular to do he goes into vaudeville. The Hickeyville quartet is coming home in sections, being scattered all along the track from Oskaloosa, Iowa, to this place.

Elmer Spinks says he came durned near gittin' married the other day. Only one word made the difference. He asked the milliner and she said, "No." If she had said "Yess," it would have been over with by now.

When Hod Peters wants to git his land plowed quick and cheap, he gits up a plowin' race. This year he offered a patent wringer for first prize.

Wicked Imagination.
Proverbs says one of the six things that is an abomination to the Lord is "a heart that deviseth wicked imaginations." It is also an abomination to everybody. And there is much of it going on. Some people seem to enjoy the fancy that a certain person is living a mean and deceitful life. No fact back of it; nothing but a dislike or low suspicion. When a person can harbor such imaginations he himself is guiltier than the one he suspects.

When a man's heart gets to breeding suspicions, all noble emotions are excluded. It would be ten times better that he thought well of a man, even if he were mistaken than to think ill of him, even if he were not. These wicked imaginations are mean things to have in a man's heart, even if there is some warrant for them, for they spoil the tenderest and sweetest sentiments. No, no; a man wants a clean, open heart all the time; he wants the sunlit breezes to blow through and freshen it up and kill off the wild and poisonous vermin that get in there.

That is the better life. We don't want men coming to us with their hearts full of venom and spurring it into our face.—Ohio State Journal.

Making a Luxury of Sorrow.
The happiest and the best of us have "fits of the blues" once in awhile. Sometimes we make a luxury of sorrow; we pet and nurse and dandle the real or supposed affliction and make it our coddled darling, our spoiled child.

We actually resent the efforts of any one to clear away the fog and show us that the sun is shining and that if we are blue, so is the sky.

When we have "the blues" we are as anxious to be let alone as a traveler drowsily perishing in a snow bank.

Yet if we had the courage every time the spell came on us we would sit down, as Robinson Crusoe did, and put in parallel columns our reasons for joy and our causes for repining. And then we would find how far the first overlapped the second.

When we feel "blue," if we look hard, we will discover nothing there but the dreary, melancholy color.

If we would look up we would see that it isn't the world that is blue; it is only the sky.

If we must have "the blues" let us have the heavenly blues.

GOOD AND BAD ATHLETICS

Authority Gives a List of Those Which She Advises Girls to Give Up or Avoid.

Miss Elizabeth Burchenal, inspector of athletics for the board of education of New York city, who recently made a study of athletics for girls, with the object of determining what kind of athletics are really helpful to girls, and what kind harmful, has interviewed forty women, all graduates of physical training schools and all of whom have had either practical experience in athletics or else opportunities of observation. As a result of their statements and of her own experience she has listed as condemned athletics for mature girls the broad jump, the high jump in competition and pole vaulting, and as doubtful for the mature girl the high jump, running more than 100 yards in competition and weight throwing. For the immature girl the condemned athletics are running more than 100 yards, pole vaulting and weight throwing, and the doubtful athletics are basket ball and field hockey.

The safe athletics for mature girls include, according to Miss Burchenal's investigation, archery, ball throwing, basket ball (women's rules), climbing, coasting, dancing, field hockey, golf, horseback riding, cross and side saddle, indoor baseball which is played in the open air, low hurdles not in competition; skating, skiing, snowshoeing, swimming, tennis and walking.

As especially beneficial for the mature girl Miss Burchenal lists climbing, dancing, jumping, in moderation; running, in moderation, and not in competition; skating, swimming and walking.

NOT MUCH REAL DIFFERENCE

Mr. Tobe Snagg Discourses Pleasantly on Subject of City and Village Society Gossip.

"I fail to observe any great difference," remarked Mr. Tobe Snagg, "between the 'Gossip of Society' notes in the city papers and the 'Purely Personal' items in the Goshkonok Gazette. Of course, there are people here longer names and travel farther than us humble Goshkonongians, but after all, when I read that Mr. and Mrs. Theobald Postlethwait Golden-Gawbs and their son, T. Livermore Golden-Gawbs, have returned from motoring on the continent, while their daughter, Lorda Watt Golden-Gawbs, will remain in Italy, sketching the old masters, I can't see that intrinsically it differs much from the simple statements in the Gazette that Miss Gladys Frump Sundayed at Whillerville with Apra Henson and Ralph Slicer, our popular barber, Mondayed in Hunyunkay, and Dab Socker Tuesdayed in Turgtidown at the home of his widowed sister whose husband suicided two months ago after arsoning the lumber yard. All the parties concerned probably did all the gadding they could afford, and in any case not a soul in the livin' world beyond the persons mentioned was in the slightest degree interested in the recital."

Frenchman's Song Collection.
No French president can during his tenure of office escape being "blague"—raged, we might translate it—sometimes rather ferociously. Of this ragging M. Fallieres has certainly had his full share. It appears that he takes it all in the best spirit. He has even collected all the songs that have been written about him, and in the evening after dinner he sometimes asks one of his intimate friends to sing selections from the fat volume they make. He is said to derive a good deal of quiet amusement from a study of the faces of his orderly officers when the song is more than usually personal and outspoken.

HOW ROMAN WENT COURTING

Prospective Wife Had Nothing to Do With the Match, Though Accorded High Position.

When a boy had completed his studies and had reached the age of perhaps twenty-five or thirty, it was his duty to marry. After deciding upon a lady whom he thought suitable to be his wife he arranged the betrothal with her father, as the maiden was usually too young to be consulted in the matter, and, furthermore, Roman women were always under guardianship. The marriage ceremonies began with the feast and sacrifices in the house of the bride's father.

In the evening a procession of youths, torch-bearers, musicians and guests escorted the bride to her future home, where the groom carefully lifted her over the threshold, as it was an ill omen for her to touch the sill with her foot. In case the wedding was of the ancient sacred form of confarreatio, the newly married pair, after entering the house, ate together a sacred cake in the presence of ten witnesses and of the chief pontiff and priest of Jupiter. The ceremonies of the evening ended with a bridal song by the guests, and on the following day the husband gave a marriage feast to his friends.

Though early custom placed the wife in the power of her husband, she went freely into society, attended the theaters and public games, taught her children, and sometimes aided her husband in his political career. Her position as mistress of the household commanded respect from government and society.—Exchange.

Rare Attraction for a Sideshow.

"I next have the pleasure, ladies and gentlemen," announced the sideshow lecturer in orotund tones, indicating a pale, wan, spectacled person on the platform, "of calling your kind attention to one of the most remarkable curiosities on exhibition. He—"

"Huh!" hypercritically ejaculated Tobe Sagg, who had nosed into the forefront of the crowd around the rostrum. "He looks just about like the rest of us."

"Very true!" replied the orator. "But, despite that fact, he is, so far as we have any knowledge, the only specimen of his kind in existence—a country editor who worked and fought and labored for his party, with heart and soul and might and main, merely because he thought it was right and not because he wanted the postoffice!"

Household Maneuver.

"And what," asked the caller, after he had been shown all over Mr. Bobb's new house, "is that pretty little article hanging over the piano?"

"Don't you know?" answered Mr. Bobbs, enthusiastically. "Why, that is a handy match receiver, made by Mrs. Bobbs. I scratch a match and use it. It must not be thrown on the floor—there is the receiver. Holding the burnt match carefully in my fingers, I move the piano away from the wall to the center of the room. Then I go down in the basement and get the stepladder. I place the stepladder against the wall, mount it, deposit the match in the receiver, climb down again. I then return the stepladder to the basement, come back and move the piano into its former position. There's nothing like having these handy things about the house. It makes for neatness and discourages smoking."

KNOTS AS SIGN LANGUAGE

Wife Has Precedent for the Request She Often Makes, and Hubby Forgets.

"Tie a knot in your handkerchief, John, and you'll not forget it," says the wife, when she asks you to bring something home when you return from the city at night.

Rather simple system of mnemonics, isn't it? No complicated rigmarole of mystic numbers like most of the other memory systems, and one that we all know is wonderfully effective.

Did you ever stop to think what a wonderful part in the history of the world this simple tying of a knot has played? asks the Memphis Commercial Appeal. Of course, you remember the most famous knot and how Alexander untied it—with his sword.

But older even than that, though not so well known, is the history that Darius, on crossing the Istir on his Scythian expedition, left with the Greeks appointed to guard the bridge a thing with a number of knots in it. One was to be undone each day. If Darius did not return before the last knot was untied the forces were to tear down the bridge and depart.

Muscles and Brain.

Experiments conducted by Mosso of Turin indicate that physical education and gymnastics serve not only for the development of the muscles, but for that of the brain as well. It is becoming evident, in the opinion of this authority, that as much time should be devoted to muscular exercise as to intellectual exercise, and that children should begin reading and writing only after they are nine years old.

Muscular fatigue exhibits phenomena identical with intellectual fatigue. Nerve cells show a tendency to rest every ten seconds. It is probable that only part of the brain is active at a time; the various parts relieve one another. The more mobile any animal's extremities are, the more intelligent, other things being equal, it is.—Harper's Weekly.

LORD RUSSELL'S BLUNDER

Manchester Cabman Refused to Stand for the Ill Nature of the Famous Judge.

The bluntness and impetuosity of Lord Russell of Killowen often caused him to do and say things for which he was afterwards genuinely sorry, and sometimes led him to get, quite unexpectedly, a Roland for his Oliver. This happened on one occasion in Manchester. He and a junior started for an appointment one afternoon when Russell was in a very disagreeable mood. Things had not been going well during the day. The cabman was a big, powerful, athletic-looking fellow. On approaching the cab, Russell, as was his wont, closely scanned the horse and the man. "Why," said he, "a big, powerful fellow like you ought not to be driving a cab; you ought to be doing something else."

"What the deuce is it to you," said the cabman, "what I do? Get into the cab, and mind your own business."

Russell, Barry O'Brien tells us, in his "Life" of the famous judge, read little. He was too much a man of action to be a man of books, but wherever he went he always carried two books in his bag—"On the Human Understanding" and the "Imitation of Christ." He liked novels of excitement: "Monte Cristo" was a special favorite. He read Gaboriau's books, dipped into Tolstol and Tourgueneff, and once, when he was ill at Leeds, he got his chief clerk, Mr. Bipek, to read the "Adventures of Sherlock Holmes" to him. But Russell made a bad blunder through lack of literary knowledge. On one occasion, when he was introduced to Mr. Stanley Weyman, he wished to be civil to that distinguished author, so he said: "My young people, Mr. Weyman, speak constantly of your books, and tell me I ought to read them. I have read your 'Prisoner of Zenda' with much pleasure."

"Oh! That's the other man," said Stanley Weyman.

Ships That Made History.

It is surely the very irony of circumstance which couples the names of the Alabama and the Kearsarge among the twelve American battleships which the secretary of the navy has reported to congress as no longer to be regarded as available for the first line of battle, and necessary to be replaced by 1920. Not far short of half a century has passed since that famous Sunday morning in June—almost as famous in its assistance to the making of history as another June Sunday of close upon half a century before which witnessed Waterloo—when the Federal war steamer Kearsarge fought and sank the Confederate cruiser Alabama in the roads off Cherbourg. The thrilling story of the fight was in all men's mouths for years afterward; and the Alabama, though under the waves, proved as perilous a craft for this country for long subsequently as she had done, when afloat, to the northern states. The only good that resulted from her existence, indeed, was to afford the first effective chance of proving the value of international arbitration.—Westminster Gazette.

Heavy Grief.

As a specimen of heavy grief we have seen nothing more heart-rending than the following obituary notice, published in a German paper:

"Today red, tomorrow dead. So it was with my wife, who only seven days ago 'was springing over bench and table,' and was buried yesterday. During her life she was a live woman, who did not easily mistake an X for a U. For that reason everybody can tell the extent of my sorrow; so young and so merry, and now buried. What is human life? I have said to myself repeatedly within the past few days, and also yesterday in the church yard when I paid the sexton, who will also keep the grave mound in order. So cheerful a wife I shall certainly never, never find again, and therefore, my sorrow is a righteous one. I wish that heaven preserve any man from a similar sad fate, and thank for the flowers, as well as the Herr Cantor, the music master of the choir, for the grave hymn, which went through and through me, but was very well sung.—Ackerman, Master-Locksmith."—From the Narrator.

Her Rule With Husbands.

Miss Kate Riverton Byles, one of the suffragist leaders of Colorado, said at a recent suffragist dinner in Cripple Creek:

"Opponents of woman's suffrage would have you believe that a vote turns a woman into a monster. Yet when a young man, arriving at the age of twenty-one, gets the vote, does he, or does he not, become a monster? But to hear the anti-suffragists talk you'd think that every voting woman was like that lady, rich in her own right, to whom her husband said: 'My suspicions are at last confirmed. We part forever from this moment.' But the guilty lady retorted haughtily: 'Not at all, sir. Not at all. It's my invariable rule to require a month's notice from every husband.'"

Encouraging.

"Bliggins' friendship seems to flatter you."

"It doesn't flatter me," said the cynical statesman, "but it encourages me. He is one of those people who never trouble themselves to be affable except to those who are regarded as liable to have some pull."

It is one thing to make soda crackers that are occasionally good.

It is quite another thing to make them so that they are always better than all other soda crackers, always of unvarying goodness.

The name "Uneeda"—stamped on every biscuit—means that if a million packages of Uneeda Biscuit were placed before you, you could choose any one of them, confident that every soda cracker in that package would be as good as the best Uneeda Biscuit ever baked. Five cents.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

Searching for Hidden Will.

The romantic story of a hidden will is arousing keen interest in the neighborhood of Bradley Field, a little village three miles from Bolton, Lancashire, England. Search for the missing document is being made by a woman from Gunnersbury, London. She believes that if she succeeds in her quest, she will become entitled to a valuable estate. The search was prompted originally by statements made by a medium at a spiritualistic seance. The will is supposed to be concealed in a wall sunk in a shed which has been bricked up for many years. It formed a cellar to an old house. The London searcher's ancestor, John Bradley, who married his housekeeper, was known to possess great wealth. No will could be found after his death.

Hopeless Predicament.

Mrs. Pothick Lawrence, the English suffragist, said at a farewell dinner in New York last month:

"The ants who protest against the vote on the score of woman's weakness have been thrown into a terrible predicament by Professor Dantán's positive proof that girl babies are stronger than boy babies."

"Their predicament is hopeless. It is embarrassing as the predicament of a lady who, about to be fitted for a pair of new boots in a boot shop, flushed, bit her lip, and said to herself: 'Oh, dear, which boot shall I try on? There's a hole in my stocking, and I can't remember whether it's the left toe or the right!'"

Electric Fans Prevent Frost.

To the long list of the means heretofore proposed of protecting fields, orchards, and vineyards against frost a new one has recently been added by a French scientist. He points out the fact that frosts are not feared when the wind blows; he is thus led to suggest the creation of an artificial wind by the installation of electric fans among the plants to be protected. He considers this plan applicable chiefly to vineyards, but also possibly useful in orchards.

DISCOURAGED AT THE START

Youthful Hero Unfortunely Had Run Across One Who Did Not Like His Kind.

"And who are you, my lad?" inquired the kindly old gentleman in spectacles of the honest-eyed, ruddy-cheeked lad who stood manfully before him on the library step.

"Me?" interrogated the honest-eyed, etc., youth, smoothing down his ragged but clean shirt front. "Why, I am the boy with a widowed mother who has a mortgage on the farm, and I'm about to save the life of the only daughter of the village banker, and then I'm going out into the cold world and make a fortune and come back and astonish everybody by marrying the only daughter, etc., and then I'll—"

Whereupon the old gentleman said: "You are one of those Oliver Optic kids," and the kindly old, etc., kicked the honest-eyed, etc., remorselessly off the library steps.

RECOMMEND REMOVAL OF BREEDING PLACES

What is the Life of a Member of Your Family Worth? Easy to Insure against Preventable Diseases

Among the myriads of pathogenic or disease-producing bacteria which find the most favorable conditions for their life and growth in the bodies of men, and are well known, are the bacilli of typhoid, of diphtheria and of tuberculosis. When they get into the human body, the various forms grow in different ways, and produce chemical compounds, whose growth produce diseases.

Bacillus Diphtheria

One of the most dreadful and most feared diseases is diphtheria which is met with mostly among children. Without the presence of the diphtheria bacillus, however, which may be conveyed to the human throat in various ways—by contact, by drinking infected milk or other contaminated foods, it is not possible to have diphtheria.

Bacillus Typhoid

Another micro-organism, a foe to mankind, is the typhoid bacillus, which is found in water, milk soil, sewage and in other materials. This bacillus usually finds its way into well water directly from sewage or privy vaults—indeed in the majority of cases the typhoid fever germs are most frequently carried in water, which has in some way been polluted by human waste and which contains typhoid germs.

Bacillus Tuberculosis

Undoubtedly the most remarkable organism connected with diseases is the bacillus tuberculosis. When it is borne in mind that the sputum of consumptive persons almost always contains the organisms, it is easy to understand that there must be various channels by which the poison may be conveyed.

How Food May Become Infected

Milk may become infected by use of unclean containers, or by washing them with contaminated water, etc. It does not require a very vivid imagination to picture what happens when a fly, glutted with a meal from the sputum on the street, from a garbage pile, or perhaps from the putrescent carcass of a dog or other animal, wanders and feasts at will from the sweets of your own tables, or rests upon the lips of your sleeping babe, especially when it is known that a fly is so constituted that it must vomit on its food in order to reabsorb it in fluid form. When we are fully aware of his habits will we tolerate the fly and run the risk of becoming his victim?

Banish the Breeding Places

The breeding places of flies are manure piles, rubbish and filth of any kind. Such places of menace to general health should not be permitted. Mr. McLaughlin estimates the life of a full grown person to be worth to the community about $5,000. How much do you think your life is worth? How much would you be willing to give for the guarantee that your family may never be afflicted with these preventable diseases? Perhaps a much less sum would remove all the fly breeding places in your community.

Let each of us ask ourselves whether we are doing our part in exterminating preventable diseases. It is not necessary to drink sewage, to harbor flies, or to eat contaminated food.

VETERANS TO MEET ON BATTLEFIELD

Big Reunion of Survivors of Civil War at Gettysburg on July 1.

40,000 EXPECTED TO ATTEND

Men Who Wore the Blue and Gray to Again Gather on Ground Made Memorable by Historic Conflict.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

WASHINGTON.—During the first four days of July the battlefield of Gettysburg, Pa., will again be the scene of a meeting of the Blue and the Gray, but this time they will meet in amity and affection. A half-century will have passed since last these men of two great American armies met on this northern field. Then they were face to face in deadly conflict, for the issue was well understood to both contending forces, was the success of the southern cause, or the beginning of the defeat, to be followed by the restoration of the Union as it had been before the first shot was fired at Fort Sumter.

The United States government and the government of nearly every state in the Union have combined to make the Gettysburg reunion of the soldiers of the north and south one of the great peace events of the century. The state of Pennsylvania some time ago appointed a "Fiftieth Anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg commission" to make preparations for the four days' reunion, at which Pennsylvania as a state was to act as host to the veterans of the war between the states and to the thousands of visitors who would follow their march to the field of battle, and appropriated $150,000 for the purpose of entertaining the veterans.

40,000 Veterans Expected.

It is expected that 40,000 veterans of the war, not all of them, however, survivors of the Gettysburg battle, will be found encamped upon the field when reveille sounds on the morning of July 1. It will be a different reveille than that which the life and drum corps of the two great armies sounded fifty years ago. The call to awakening will be a call to a peaceful celebration while the call to the awakening in July, 1863, was a call of armies to conflict and, to thousands of men, a call to death.

For years the veterans have been looking forward to this reunion. It is probable that there will be present many thousands of survivors of the battle. The United States government under an act of congress has appropriated money for the preparation of the camps and for the messing of the soldier veterans. The average age of the men engaged in the Civil war was only eighteen years, but fifty years have passed since these soldier boys fought at Gettysburg, and so if the computation of age was a true one the average years of the veterans who will meet in Pennsylvania in July will be about sixty-eight years. Many of them, of course, will be much older and a good many of them, men who entered at ages ranging from fourteen to seventeen years, will be younger, but all will be old men as the world views age.

Many of the states of the Union, north as well as south, have made appropriations to send their veterans to the Gettysburg reunion and to pay all other expenses. The battle of Gettysburg is recognized as the turning point of the war between the states. It has been called time and again one of the decisive battles of the world. Generally it is recognized that Gettysburg decided the great conflict, helped in the decision probably by the fall of Vicksburg on the Mississippi, which took place virtually at the moment that the conflict on the Pennsylvania field was decided in favor of the northern arms.

The preparations which the government is making to care for the veterans at Gettysburg are interesting. They have been under the charge of James B. Aleshire, quartermaster general of the United States army, and Henry G. Sharpe, commissary general of the United States army. Two years ago last March 14,000 regular troops were gathered in camp at Texas. The health of the soldiers throughout the Texas encampment was almost perfect, made so by the plans which had been carefully laid to see that perfect sanitation was maintained. The United States army was taught a lesson by the Spanish war, when lack of proper sanitary precautions and unpreparedness in other ways cost the government the lives of more men than were sacrificed to the bullets of the Spaniard.

The estimates of the commissary and quartermaster authorities are based upon an attendance of 40,000 veterans. It probably will cost the government about $360,000 to act in part as host to the survivors of the battle and other veterans who attend the Gettysburg reunion.

Big Task to Feed Men.

The survivors of the war from the north and south who will be present, being old men, must be cared for in a way which would not have been necessary fifty years ago. The messing of the veterans will require 400 army ranges, 1 great field bakery, 40,000 mess kits, 800 cooks, 800 kitchen helpers and 130 bakers. This helping personnel will be required to be in camp for at least seven days, and many of them for a longer period, for the purpose of installing the field bakery, the field ranges and in dismantling, cleaning, packing and storing material after the encampment is over.

The old soldiers are to be supplied with fresh meat directly from refrigerator cars drawn upon the field. They will be given fresh vegetables and special bread with the best coffee and tea which the market affords. For them it will not be a case of hardtack, bootleg and poor bacon.

The Battle of Gettysburg commission of the state of Pennsylvania has a large sum of money at its disposal for the entertainment of the visiting veterans, and the thousands of persons who will accompany them. Hospitality is to mark the days. Fifty years ago Pennsylvania aided in the work of repelling the visitors from the south. In early July next the same state will have its arms wide open in welcome to the men wearing the gray. Entertainments of various kinds will be offered the visiting veterans, but it is pretty well understood that their deep interest in revisiting the scenes where they fought, Little Round Top, Oak Ridge, Cemetery Hill, Culp's Hill, Rock Creek, the Stone Wall and other places will hold them largely to the pleasures and to the sadnesses of personal reminiscences. Arm in arm with the Union soldiers the Confederate soldiers will retrace the battleground. They will look over the field of Pickett's desperate charge. They will retrace the marching steps of Longstreet's corps. They will go to the place where Meade had his headquarters and to the place from which Lee directed his southern forces in battle.

Pennsylvania is going to make a great celebration of peace of this fiftieth anniversary of what probably was the decisive battle of the war, although it was fought nearly two years before the war ended. Other states will help Pennsylvania in its work, and from every section of the country, north, east, south and west, the veterans will assemble, most of them probably to see for the last time in life the field upon which they were willing to die for the sake of their respective causes.

The veterans will not be directly encamped in the Gettysburg park, which is dotted with monuments to the various commands which took part in the fight and which is laid out in approved park fashion, with fine drives and beautifully kept lawns. There will be two camps, known as No. 1 and No. 2. No. 1 will cover 149 acres and No. 2 will cover 44 acres. The layouts of these camps are based on the use of tactical tents, each of which will, without crowding, accommodate eight persons. Inasmuch as accommodations are to be furnished for 40,000 visitors, 5,000 tents will be required to give quarters to the visiting hosts.

Visitors to Be Cared For.

Every possible care is to be taken of the visitors. The sanitary arrangements which have been made are said to be the best that are possible and they are the result of careful study by medical officers of the service. All the experience of the past has been drawn upon to make it certain that the health of the veterans will be conserved while they are in camp.

With so many thousands of old soldiers in attendance, and taking into consideration the probability that the weather will be warm, it is expected that there will be sickness, but the United States government and the state of Pennsylvania are preparing for a hospital service which shall be adequate to any contingency. There will be hospital corps detachments present ready to render first aid to the injured, and there will be many field hospitals with surgeons in attendance, where the sick can receive instant attendance.

It is said that this contemplated reunion has induced more interest among the old soldiers of the north and the south than any event which has happened since the day that the war closed. There is today at Gettysburg a great national park, in which is included a cemetery where thousands of soldier dead are buried. The United States government and the legislature of Pennsylvania worked together to make a park of the battlefield and to mark accurately every point in it which has historic interest. When one goes to the field he can tell just where this brigade or that brigade was engaged, just where this charge or that charge was made and just where the desperate defenses of positions were maintained until the tide of battle brought either victory or defeat to one of the immediate commands engaged.

It was in 1895 that congress established a national park at Gettysburg and gave the secretary of war authority to name a commission "to superintend the opening of additional roads, mark the boundaries, ascertain and definitely mark the lines of battle of troops engaged, to acquire lands which were occupied by infantry, cavalry and artillery, and such other adjacent lands as the secretary of war may deem necessary to preserve the important topographical features of the battlefield."

When the Union and the Confederate veterans reach Gettysburg on June 30 next they will find on the scene of the old conflict between five and six hundred memorials raised in commemoration of the deeds of their commands on the great fields of the Pennsylvania battlefield. There are, moreover, 1,000 markers placed to designate historic spots. There are great towers built upon the field by the government so that bird's-eye views can be obtained of the entire scene of the battle. Fine roads have been constructed and everywhere attention has been paid to every detail of the least importance in setting forth the history of one of the greatest battles ever known to warfare.

BLUE AND GRAY IN BIG REUNION

Veterans Begin Celebration of Gettysburg Battle—Special Trains Carry Visitors.

WILSON TO MAKE ADDRESS

President's Announcement That He Will Speak Pleases Old Soldiers —Trolley Crash Injures Six Persons.

Gettysburg, Pa., June 30.—The armies of the Blue and Gray are again assembled at Gettysburg, after fifty years.

This time the veterans met at her doorsteps to join in the semi-centennial celebration of the greatest battle of the war between the states and to show the world that scars are not so deep as the feeling of American brotherhood.

From early morning until long after sundown the veterans in blue and gray trooped into the little town which has slept so peacefully among its hills since Lee and Meade turned their legions southward so long ago.

More than thirty special trains came into the village during the day, and thousands of veterans who tramped up from the Shenandoah on their previous visit rode in the luxury of soft-backed day coaches from Harrisburg, Baltimore and Washington. Instead of the roar of guns, the thunder of charging cavalry and the vocal tributes of the mule drivers that greeted them in the other days, they walked or rode through the quiet, calm Sunday of a country town.

Tents for Veterans.

From the station of the two railroads that come into the village is a long mile to the camp of 5,000 tents where the veterans are housed. Many of them made the trip by automobile or by carriage or in the friendly shelter of a "Seeing Gettysburg" car, but thousands shouldered their suit cases and walked.

The tents fall westward with the slope of the ground from the Emmittsburg road to the point on Seminary ridge, where the immortal charge of Pickett started on the third day of the fight. They cover the "peach orchard" and the "wheat field," where thousands of men were lost, and part of the ground over which Pickett charged, but they do not reach to the bloody angle or to the base of Cemetery ridge, from whose heights Meade's artillery poured out its merciless rain of grape and canister and cut to pieces the legions of Pickett.

The formal exercises will be held in a big tent near Emmittsburg road, but they will last only two hours each day, and the rest of the time the veterans will spend as they please.

Wilson's Visit Pleases.

The news that President Wilson is coming to make a speech July 4 caused a stir. J. M. Schoenmaker, chairman of the Gettysburg commission, telegraphed to the president, informing him that the commission would like him to get to Gettysburg at 11 o'clock July 4. The president will stay here about two hours.

The first serious accident of the celebration came when two trolley cars on the Gettysburg Railway company's line met in head-on collision near the Devil's Den, one of the historic spots. Six passengers were slightly injured, but none seriously.

Augustus Brown of Livermore Falls, Me., was the first veteran to die on the field. He was taken suddenly ill from heat and died just as an army surgeon reached his side.

Chicago, June 30.—Lake Michigan's ever ready breeze, minus the punch which it usually possesses during a heat wave, brought partial relief to sweltering Chicagoans, but not until after seven more deaths had been claimed. The list of prostrations reached 35.

The two days' heat wave already has increased infant mortality. Twenty-one deaths of infants were reported. A ray of hope was seen in reports from Salt Lake City and Duluth, where furs and overcoats were much in evidence, but the chilly winds failed to reach this section of the country. In Salt Lake City rain and snow fell and the temperature was 53 degrees, 29 below normal. At Duluth the thermometer registered as low as 42 degrees. Reports of almost unprecedented heat, however, continued to come in from the south and west.

Water From The Spring The Common Refrigerator THE AUTOMATIC REFRIGERATOR

Running water was employed to preserve food in hot weather in the days of your Great Grandmother, and the little bubbling spring of cool sweet water running all around the pans, jars and crocks kept the food in a very fair state of preservation. However as your grandmothers, sons and daughters left the farm, (and incidently forgot to bring the little bubbling spring along with them) it was necessary to build some kind of a contraption that would take the place of the little bubbling spring way back on the farm. The result of that effort was the Common Refrigerator, of course, the common refrigerator has served a grand and noble purpose, in that it has awakened in the mind of man the TRUE and CORRECT Conception of Refrigeration. We are willing to show you the Finishes Product of the mind who thought out the best, and most economical REFRIGERATOR ever placed on the market, for it is now an established fact that the "AUTOMATIC" is absolutely the nearest approach to a PERFECT REFRIGERATOR ever made and we want to ask you to run in and look it over.

Furthermore, here are natural wash tubs and washing machines and, in some places, even ready-made soap. SIX MEXICAN PLOTTERS DIE
Conspiracy to Blow Up Customs House Has Execution Sequel.
Juarez, Mexico, June 30.—Six persons were "permitted to escape" from the federal garrison at dawn and then shot to death as they ran. This was the sequel to a plot to blow up the customs house, the cartel, the Monte Carlo hotel, where General Salazar has headquarters, and the municipal building. A box of dynamite was found under the customs house, with electric wires leading to a box car. The arrangement was to dynamite the building when it was filled with federal officials. Constitutionalists informed the federal officers of the plot.

Mr. Stoddard's organ selections were as usual, excellent. This is the last praise service for the summer. PERSIAN LORE ABOUT ROSE

Nightingale Sings His Frenzied Love for that Flower and Dies Beneath Rosebush.

Persian legendary lore tells some fanciful stories about the rose which have great poetic charm. For example, the poet Attar wrote "The Book of the Nightingale," telling how all the other birds appeared in anger before the throne of Solomon, asking him to destroy the nightingale, which would not allow them to rest by night, but poured forth its lays when peaceful silence should reign all over the earth. After prolonged argument the bird was acquitted, for it explained with such pathos that its untimely melody could not be restrained because of its frenzied love for the rose, a passion so hopeless and undying that it could never be made voiceless. Another Persian belief is that nightingales always die beneath rose bushes, stupefied by the scent. Jamie, a Persian poet, wrote of how "the first rose appeared in Gullistan at the time the flowers demanded a new sovereign from Allah, because the drowsy lotus would slumber at night. At first the maiden queen blossom was shown white, and encircled with a protecting guard of thorns, but the poor nightingale fell into such an ecstasy of love over her charms, and so recklessly pressed his love-lorn heart against those cruel thorns, that his blood, so far as it could trickle into the flower's bosom, dyed it crimson."

Another fancy states that the perfume of the rose was gained from a cup of nectar thrown over it by the little god Cupid, while its thorns were those stings of bees used by him as arrows in his wrath at finding some roses scentless after all his trouble.

The beds of the Shahs of Persia in ancient times were filled with rose petals, which had to be often scattered lest they become uncomfortable. This must surely have been the origin of the saying: "He would complain of a bed of roses." It was also claimed that a rose liquor would "by one glassful make the sternest monarch merciful or the sickliest mortal slumber amid his pains."

The rose is emblematical of joy and love, and was consecrated to Venus, the goddess of beauty, from whose path it was said to have first sprung. Crimson roses, "gemmed with dew-drops," formed the crowning garland of the Romans' youthful Comus, god of feasting, and the Turks believed it absolutely wicked to step on a rose petal or leave it lying on the ground.—Pall Mall Gazette.

All Fixed.

"I think I'll propose at the party to-night."
"No, you won't."
"Why won't I?"
"My sister knows the young lady in the case, and it has been arranged for you to propose at the ball next week."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

POULTRY CULTURE

Basis of the Business—Wise Use of Capital

Article IV

The foundation factors of poultry keeping as a business, whether on a large or small scale, are the same as those of other branches of agriculture. They are land, capital and labor, and we add a fourth factor, "brains."

Land, Capital Labor

Land provides a place for keeping fowls. Capital is sometimes defined as stored up labor. Labor is the great factor in poultry farming. Success depends upon the economical and effective labor done in the poultry plant.

Wherever practicable, labor saving appliances should be purchased and used to reduce the working expense of the plant. The quality of the brains which plan and direct the operations usually decides the fate of the business. Intelligent attention to all details in starting and developing the undertaking will save waste of land, labor and capital.

Whole-Souled Devotion

It is certainly a fortunate condition which finds the poultryman devoting not only his own capital, but also his undivided labor of mind to the winning of success in his chosen calling.

Small Beginning

The best plan in the poultry business, as in most other kinds of business, is to commence on a small scale involving only reasonable amounts of land, capital and labor. From his small beginning the poultry plant may be gradually enlarged along the most advantageous lines as indicated by the results secured in the particular location and under the peculiar conditions which surround the undertaking.

Fixed and Floating Capital

Fixed capital is the funds invested in land, buildings, water works, drainage, live stock, etc. Floating capital is the funds used to purchase tools, machines feed, supplies and labor.

The floating capital must be so managed as to secure a return for itself and earn an interest on the fixed capital. Here is the reason for not investing too extensively in land. It also explains why the buildings should be constructed simply and economically, if the poultry plant is to become a paying investment and not an expensive plaything.

Wise Use of Capital

If the fixed portion of a given total of capital is too large the poultryman has not sufficient funds available for purchase of feed in large quantities when it is low in price, or to take advantage of discounts for cash.

Do not spend a dollar unnecessarily. Study economy of capital and labor. On the other hand spend freely and wisely to secure convenience and saving of labor. Here is where the poultryman must decide and upon good judgment exercised will depend the results.—H. A. McKeene, Secy. Illinois Farmers' Institute, Springfield, Ill.

POULTRY CULTURE

Article VI.

Range

The old method of free range need not necessarily be changed. The fowls, should not, however, be allowed to run at will within the garden or in and about the farm buildings. Nothing is more disgusting or aggravating than to have the nine vegetables, or beautiful flowers scratched up, and the doorsteps, the porch, the barn floor and the farm machines fouled with poultry droppings. Separate the poultry also from the other live stock of the farm. This is easily accomplished when undertaken in a businesslike manner.

If the fowls are to be kept near the farm buildings, provide ample range enclosed by modern poultry wire fencing. The latter requires ordinarily but few posts, is easily put up and has a very neat appearance when in position.

Colony Plan.

Another way of separating the fowls from the center of farm operations is to place the hen houses at a considerable distance from the farmstead, in a pasture where the hens will have absolute range. The latter plan may entail some extra travel by the poultryman and there is the risk, in some localities, of depredations by foxes, hawks or other wild animals or by thieves. The farmer boy may find advantage in the second or so called colony plan, but the housewife will probably prefer the fenced enclosure near the farm house.

Marketing.

Thirdly, the farmer is by far too careless in the way he disposes of his poultry products. He is usually content to trade his eggs at the nearest grocery store when by a little extra effort he could gain a select private trade which would pay far better. His pure bred stock of one breed of fowls in their well kept house and capacious grassy yards will be a great advertisement for his egg products and uniform clean appearance of the eggs in their attractive package will prove an additional help in making sales.

Dressed Fowls.

Then, too, in disposing of his fowls the farmer often sells the birds alive when by carefully dressing them on the farm and selling to his customers on order he could secure farm better prices.

Market Supply.

The idea of special poultry farm on a large scale is extending and big plants are being freely established, but the great bulk of poultry produce for the market will continue to come from the numberless small flocks scattered throughout the country upon the farms and in the villages.

It should be the purpose of the farmer to make poultry, as a part of his stock, pay its full share in the economy of the farm and render its full share of profit instead of being merely an appendage as it is now generally considered.

As Special Business.

The old style of general farming was based upon the idea of producing on the farm itself, as fully as possible, all the supplies required by the farm and its inhabitants for use. This plan has given way in modern times to the idea of diversification and specialization in the other callings and professions of men.—H. A. McKeene, Secretary, Farmers' Institute, Springfield, Ill.

TOO ELABORATE A SYSTEM

Mr. Spiegelhausen's Idea of Postal Cards, However, Worked Very Well for a Time.

Mr. Spiegelhausen found it hard to remember at home certain things he had thought of in business hours, and conversely matters that occurred to him at night would escape his mind before he reached the office next morning. After trying various unsuccessful methods of memory cultivation, he hit on the plan of writing postal cards to himself and addressing them to the other place from which ever he happened to be in at the moment. Thus the last mail would bring to the house one or more cards with such a memo, scrawled upon it: "Remind Mrs. S. to give my coat to cleaner," and vice versa the first mail downtown would remind him: "See J. T. W. in re. thousand lot umbrella canes."

For a time this served the purpose, but presently his precise and far-reaching mind began to anticipate and work more and more in advance, so that on a Monday night he would mail a card from home saying: "Be sure to send card from office tomorrow to remind yourself of dinner engagement Tuesday." Then he got to jotting down appointments on postal cards a whole week ahead, sending other cards to warn himself when to drop them in the letter box, and finally his harassed brain refused to work any longer on such a strain.

One evening his wife asked him whether he had thought to attend to the season tickets for the opera, and he replied with a sheepish attempt at laughter: "I suppose that was on the pile of cards on my desk this morning. I saw the postman bring them, but I forgot to turn them over and see what they said."

RECORD OF CRIMINAL LIVES

Book Which Would Be Condemned Today Read by Men and Women a Few Generations Ago.

One of the scarce books which has to be sold at an approaching auction sale in this city bears this fascinating title: "The Lives of the Most Remarkable Criminals. Who Have Been Condemned and Executed; for Murder, Highway, House-Breakers, Street Robberies, Coining or Other Offenses; from 1720 to the Present Time." The "present time" referred to in this title was only the year 1735, so that the whole period covered by these thrilling and numerous criminal lives was only 15 years. It must have been a great time for criminals, for between the covers of the book are the stories of Jack Sheppard, Kennedy the Pirate, Jonathan Wild, Mrs. Griffith, Edward Burnsworth, William Barwick and several other quite celebrated criminals. Cheer up! Those were worse times than ours for criminality—and those were the days, too, when men and women were hanged for burglary, counterfeiting, sheep stealing, and even poaching and smuggling.

An odd thing about that time, too, was that hundreds of books were printed which contained full and harrowing details of murder and robbery, and that almost everybody, including clergymen and delicate ladies, read these books eagerly as fast as they came out. The oldest public libraries in New England contain, in the book collections which were spread before the youth of the community, many such criminal lives.—New York Mail.

Tea Was Not Popular in 1753.

A description of a model country rector's household in an issue of the London World for 1753 shows that tea-drinking was then far from general: "His only article of luxury is tea, but the doctor says he would forbid that, if his wife could forget her London education. However, they seldom offer it but to the best company, and less than a pound will last them a twelvemonth."

A few years prior to this the Female Spectator declared that the tea table "costs more to support than would maintain two children at nurse; it is the utter destruction of all economy, the bane of good housewifery, and the source of idleness."

DANGEROUS FISH TO MEET

Habitat of South American Waters That Seems Particularly Fond of the Human Body.

Probably one of the most dangerous and least known of man's watery enemies, says the Wide World Magazine, is the candern, or canern, a fish three to eight inches long, and guilty of the extraordinary habit of diving suddenly into the human anatomy by the most convenient channels.

There are two distinct species, one eel-like in appearance, blunt-headed and smooth-bodied, the other armed with a sharp, bony snout, two to three inches in length, swallow-tailed, and covered from snout to tail by small barbs. It is particularly attracted by the human body, into which it dives suddenly and with great force, producing a shock somewhat akin to a powerful electric discharge.

In the case of both types a serious surgical operation is involved; but in the case of the Beni variety the more the fish or the victim wriggles the farther the fish penetrates—and it cannot get back. It frequently causes death, for a surgeon is a rare avia in these wilds.

I saw two cut out of a woman in Riveralta, South America, where victims are common. The fish is a bloodsucker, and can be easily caught with a lump of raw meat, into which it dives in a much similar way—the proboscis being probably its usual means of securing blood.

WAS DABBLING IN THE PAST

Pilgrim Somewhat Resentful Because He Was Misled Into Perusing an Old Magazine.

"Among the things I'd like to know about," remarked the weary looking pilgrim with the drab mustache, on the car, "is this: How does a doctor or dentist come by his magazines? Does he go around among his friends and buy up old ones after his friends have read 'em, so's to get 'em cheaper? Or does he buy new magazines, and then lay them away somewhere and let them age by natural process before placing them on the table in his reception room?"

"A day or so ago I had occasion to sit in the reception room of a prosperous dentist—that is, I suppose he's prosperous if he charges everybody on the same scale that he does me—and while I waited I began to rummage through his magazines that I found lying on the table. I got interested in an article in the Literary Digest about a threatened war between Russia and Japan. What! Another Russian mix-up? I became all worked up about it and turned over a page for further details. Then I happened to glance at the date, and found that I had been reading a magazine issued in January, 1904."

Error to Try to Hurry Women.

A Fort Scott (Kan.) man and his wife were planning to take a trip, the Tribune of that town says, and after they had decided on the day the man spoiled all the pleasure of preparing by suggesting that he "bet they would miss the train." On the fatal morning his wife suddenly remembered that she had not put in her mirror and rushed back to get it. When she started again she was sure there was something else she had forgotten and looked in her suitcase to see. It happened to be there, so they rushed to the depot. The train was just out of sight, but the man didn't say "I told you so." He did say, though: "If you hadn't taken so much time dressing we wouldn't have missed the train." "I know that," returned the wife, "and if you hadn't rushed me we wouldn't have had to wait so long for the next train."

Value of Knowledge.

Mrs. Featherton had embroidered a gown for herself. Butterflies were the design, and she had made them look so natural that—so Mr. Featherton said—one would think they were actually alive. But Mrs. Featherton's little son was more critical. He regarded the decorative insects long and earnestly, opened his lips to speak, and then, with remarkable self-control for one so young, closed them again without speaking.

"Well, Frankie," said his mother at last, "tell me what you think of my butterflies."

"They are very nice, mother," replied he seriously, "but the next time you embroider butterflies, would you mind putting the antennae on the other end?"

Recreation for the Rich.

Let us give credit where it is due. You can not think that the devotion of surplus wealth to the acquisition of works of art deserves condemnation. On the contrary, it deserves praise and recognition—don't you think so? Keen business men require recreation. All brain workers want counter irritation. Pictures, books, old china and antiquities generally furnish the necessary relaxation, hence the collection of them has become the fashion in the United States, a fashion so attractive that in the buying of them the American must hustle, as in his business, if he wants "to get there," and the almighty dollar talks.—London Opinion.

It Is All Made Plain.

"Gertrude says no man has ever kissed her."

"I have often wondered why she showed such a decided preference for mere boys."

CURIOSITY THAT MET REBUKE

Inquisitive Grocer More Than Met his Match When He Questioned the Small Girl.

The proposal to strengthen the secrecy of the ballot by voting by mail reminded Senator Williams of an election day story.

"Voting by mail," he said, "is a radical proposition that I'd hesitate to advocate without further study; but I do most heartily favor inviolable secrecy as regards the ballot."

"Even a harmless curiosity about the ballot is contemptible. A Salina grocer said to a little girl one election day:

"Who is your father going to vote for this morning, my dear?"

"I don't know," the little girl answered.

"Will he vote the Republican ticket?"

"I don't know."

"I wonder if he'll vote Democratic?"

"I don't know."

"He wouldn't vote Prohibition, surely?"

"I don't know."

"The grocer, as he tied up the little girl's package, sneered: 'Well, you don't know much, and that's a fact.'"

"You know less," the little girl answered, "or you wouldn't be asking so many questions!"

MARVEL IN GATHERING NEWS

Ordinary Man Cannot Appreciate What the Production of a Great Journal Involves.

The ordinary reader, as he opens his daily journal, is content with a vague feeling that it somehow edits and composes itself; he seldom reflects upon the immense amount of organization, upon the care in the selection of news, and even upon the mechanical skill in adjustment so that every column may be exactly filled, which are required for even the most normal issue. He seldom reflects upon the speed with which it all has to be done. That a great paper should appear morning after morning generally correct in its news, readable and sound in its literary matter, accurate in its printing, that it should be distributed all over the country and the world at the right moment, is none the less a marvel because it has happened so often that people have ceased to look upon it with surprise.

Good Talkers and Good Writers.

Good talkers are rarely good writers, and vice versa. Good talkers are those who fill up the conversational gaps. A conversational gap is the absence of talk. Gaps come when thought lags. Talkers must be ready to jump right in and fill up the gaps without thinking.

Good writers must make gaps; great, huge thinking gaps, which must be used for concentrated meditation, after which comes the written result of that meditation. Good talkers must stop talking when they commence to write. This is always hard for them. Good writers are too careful what they say to consent to fill sudden talking gaps with mere chatter.

This may make it clear to many a woman why her literary ambitions are so slow to materialize.—Life.

English Taxi Rates.

There are one hundred taxicabs in the city of Sheffield, England. The tariff rate is one shilling (24.3 cents) for the first mile, and after that 3d. (six cents) for each quarter of a mile. This rate is for one to four persons, and includes such baggage as is carried inside. For outside luggage a fixed charge of 3d. a piece is added to the cost of the journey. The meter mechanism is also affected by a clock, so that when a taxicab is allowed to stand with the flag down it registers at the rate of one mile (or one shilling cost) in every 15 minutes. A taxicab may be contracted for by distance, as when one wishes to make a trip of 40 miles or more a special price is made of 10d. (20 cents) a mile, and a stop of several hours allowed without charge.

How to Attract the Birds.

"The matter of attracting birds to your yard is all very simple, particularly if you happen to have an old grape-arbor, a bit of shrubbery or a tree or two. Of course, they won't come without encouragement. It may be, even, that you will have to give your old cat, but you will soon find the sacrifice amply repaid. For to the heart of a little bird, a cat is the very embodiment of prawling destruction. Then you must have a feeding board, on which to spread such dainties as bits of boiled potato, sodden bread (in summer), cracked corn, rice, crushed nuts of various kinds, trimmings from meat, and suet. For birds soon grow to love the hands that feed them."—Suburban Life Magazine.

Infusion Process Successful.

The manner in which soft iron may be converted into hard faced armor plate by the infusion process appears in the case of a test which has recently been made. A bullet was fired from a rifle at a distance of thirty-six feet against the surface of an iron plate which had been treated by the infusion process, striking with a velocity of 2,700 feet a second. The hardened surface caused the rifle ball to rebound with such directness that it struck the stock of the gun from which it had been fired, imbedding itself in the wood and narrowly escaping the person of the marksman by whom the shot had been fired.—Cassier's Magazine.

SET TWAIN AT "WORK"

HOW GEN. SHERMAN MADE HUMORIST PAY FARE.

Author Compelled to Pose as Famous Soldier While the Latter Smoked Contentedly in His Private Car.

Albert Bigelow Paine tells of the time when Mark Twain on his way to West Point to deliver an address found himself in the same train with General Sherman, who had been attending a dinner in Hartford.

"A pleasant incident followed, which Clemens himself used to relate. Gen. Sherman attended the banquet and Secretary of War Robert Lincoln. Next morning Clemens and Twichell were leaving for West Point, where they were to address the military students, guests on the same special train on which Lincoln and Sherman had their private car. This car was at the end of the train, and when the two passengers reached the station Sherman and Lincoln were out on the rear platform addressing the multitude. Clemens and Twichell went in and, taking seats, waited for them.

"As the speakers finished the train started, but they still remained outside, bowing and waving to the assembled citizens, so that it was under good headway before they came in. Sherman came up to Clemens, who sat smoking unconcernedly.

"Well, he said, 'who told you could go in this car?'

"Nobody," said Clemens.

"Do you expect to pay extra fare?" asked Sherman.

"No," said Clemens; "I don't expect to pay any fare."

"O, you don't! Then you'll work your way."

"Sherman took off his coat and military hat and made Clemens put them on."

"Now," said he, "whenever the train stops you get out on the platform and represent me and make a speech."

"It was not long before the train stopped and Clemens, according to orders, stepped out on the rear platform and bowed to the crowd. There was a cheer at the sight of his military uniform. Then the cheer waned, became a murmur of uncertainty, followed by an undertone of discussion. Presently somebody said:

"Say, that ain't Sherman; that's Mark Twain," which brought another cheer.

"Then Sherman had to come out, too, and the result was that both spoke. They kept this up at the different stations and sometimes Robert Lincoln came out with them, and when there was time all three spoke, much to the satisfaction of their audiences."—Harper's Weekly.

Climate of California.

"As each man steps his foot on shore," wrote one adventurer of the period of the "Forty-Niners," "he seems to have entered a magic circle in which he is under the influence of new impulses." And, as additional testimony to the extraordinarily stimulating quality of the Californian air, Mr. Henry Childs Mervin tells this delightful tale in his "Life of Bret Harte."

A popular figure in the streets of San Francisco was a black pony, the property of a constable, that stood most of the day, saddled and bridled, in front of his master's office.

The pony's favorite diversion was to have his hoofs blacked and polished. Whenever a coin was placed between his lips he would carry it to a neighboring bootblack, put first one foot and then the other on the foot rest, and after receiving a satisfactory "shine," walk gravely back to his usual station.

Even the dumb animals felt that something unusual was expected of them in California.—Youth's Companion.

AND IT WASN'T HUBBY AT ALL

Mr. Younghusband Unjustly Blamed for Fault of Choleric Driver of the Mules.

Another practical application of the advisability of believing only "half of what you hear" had an inning in a South side home recently. An upper apartment is occupied by a bride and groom. The groom on this fatal morning happened to be the first one up. A teamster with a pair of balky mules on the street below the bedroom windows was admonishing the mules in the only language mules are said to understand.

While the groom was in the process of a morning plunge he was astonished to hear sobs coming from the adjoining room. Hastily repairing to the scene of trouble, he was about to inquire what on earth the matter was, when in muffled tones came the heart-broken accents of the bride:

"Oh, how dare you speak to me that way, you horrid thing. I'm going straight home to m-moth—" and the balance was smothered again in the sympathetic pillow.

The astonished groom stood, gaping and speechless, while the sobbing was resumed. Just then, wafted in by the gentle morning breeze, came this delicate admonishment from the street below: "Get up, you blankety-blank lazy houn' pup, yuh! How do you expect me to get anywhere? D'you think you kin stay here all day, yoh blankety-zip-whoop-blank, etc!"

The shout of laughter that broke the tense silence in that bridal apartment made even the aggrieved bride sit up in her misery and negligence and take notice of her convulsed "brute" of a husband. Indignation was beginning to flame high in her eyes when he recovered his breath enough to tell her to just listen a moment. She listened to the choicest bit of profanity the teamster had yet relieved his system of.

"Oh," she gasped, and before the morning was over had the whole apartment wondering what the joke was.—Kansas City Journal.

Supreme Sorrow.

All the bodily pangs and labors which motherhood and mother-care have cost age after age, is the least of their living. All the patient toiling which millions of mothers have imposed upon themselves when they alone have reared and fed their children, all the watchful nights, all the tired steps—all that mothers have denied themselves for the sake of their children, is not the greatest of their sufferings. That is the greatest sorrow, when a man has expressed in the poem wherein the mother throws her heart at her son's feet, who, as he angrily stumbles over it, hears the heart whisper, 'Did you hurt yourself, my child?'—Ellen Key in the Atlantic.

Bees Stick to One Flower.

It is usually supposed, especially by the poets, that bees sip sweets indiscriminately from many a flower. All bees, including the honey bee, show a strong tendency in collecting both nectar and pollen to be constant to one species of flower. This is manifestly for the advantage of both insects and flowers. In the case of a number of bees flying for only a small part of the season this habit has become so specialized that they visit only one or a few allied species of flowers, which offer an abundance of pollen and nectar.

Wildcat Attacks Young Preacher. Attacked by a wildcat E. Lamont Geissinger, a young preacher and student at Dickinson college, was driven down a steep side of North mountain, and as a result of his experience was nearly prostrated when he reached Doubling Gap. Geissinger saw watching him through the bushes a pantherlike animal about five feet long. He started to run, but the beast leaped after him, made repeated attacks upon him, and although Geissinger dealt it several blows on the head with a club he could not beat the animal off. The young preacher made as fast time as he could for more than a mile down the mountainside, with the wildcat following. It was not until he was inside the hotel that the animal abandoned its pursuit and sneaked back into the timber.—Carlisle Correspondence Philadelphia Press.

TEN DROWNED ON FERRY

Rush of Passengers to End of Boat Causes Accident on River in Pennsylvania.

Leechburg, Pa., June 30.—Ten persons are thought to have been drowned here when a raft ferry carrying about sixty-five persons went under in the Kiskiminetas river. Five bodies have been recovered. Passengers on the raft were being brought across the river from Hyde Park, Pa. Upon approaching Leechburg they made a rush, it is said, to the forward end of the boat. The excessive weight at the one end caused the raft to tip and then shoot its nose under the water.

Manchester, N. H., June 30.—Four persons were drowned in the Merrimack river when a canoe upset. Two others in the craft were saved.

Meredosia Suffers Severe Fire.
